Divers Clear Naples Harbor

The U. S. Navy is now clearing up the Bay of Naples for Allied shipping. The Nazis attempted to block every berth by sinking ships and barges and toppling cranes and even nearby buildings into the water. This photo shows a Navy diver, F. F. Garrigues, of Camden, N. J., being undressed by two other Navy men after a dive into the bay. (Official OWI photo—)

NEWS OF OUR MEN and WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Recent graduate of the Kingman Army Air field flexible gunnery school, situated a few miles outside of Kingman, Arizona, was 23 year old Charles M. Allen, husband of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Page, 532 San Diego avenue, Daly City.

Sergeant Allen entered the Army at San Francisco, February 8, 1943. He attended Jefferson Union high school.

As a student gunner at the Kingman school Allen went through a ground school course in which he was taught the principles of ballistics, sighting, turret maintenance, range estimation and aircraft machine guns. Following a protracted course on the gunnery range, where he shot the .22 rifle, shot-gun and calibre .30 and .50 machine guns, he was given two weeks of air firing before being presented with his gunnery wings.

Private First Class Herb Poddig has been assigned to a new branch of the Quarter Master corps at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, the Railroad company.

"We've been taking an intensive course on the workings of a Railroad and it's really quite a thing," he writes.

"Missed seeing you when I came home in September. Daly City looked much the same when I came home. Didn't expect it to change but am hoping nothing changes until I come marching home again. Thanks a million for The Record. It's swell of your newspaper to do that for us boys away from home."

Charles Razzari, popular graduate of Jefferson Union high school, now in the U. S. Army Air Corps, has been promoted to corporal from private first class, Daly City friends of his learned, this week. He is now stationed at Tonopah, Nevada.

Michael Coco, son of D. Coco, 248 Los Banos avenue, Daly City, has been promoted to staff sergeant at Avenger field, Sweetwater, Texas, it was announced today by Major Robert K. Urban, commanding officer.

Sergeant Coco is an instrument (Link trainer) instructor at the famed flying school of the WASPs (Women's Airforce Service Pilots). Before entering the Air Corps in December, 1941, he was a musician.

Private John S. Allen, son of Mrs. Nellie J. Allen, 167 Peoria street, is now home on furlough. He will leave, January 27, probably for Fort Worth, Texas. He has been in Alaska for the past two years and is now stationed in the States. He is in the Coast Artillery of the United States Army.

Allen is a graduate of Jefferson Union high school.

Aviation Cadet David A. Grenier, 22, son of Mrs. Mary Grenier, 1130 Brunswick street, Daly City, has completed his basic flying training at the Pecos Army Air field, Texas, and will now go into advanced training at this field.

Cadet Grenier is a graduate of Jefferson Union high school at Daly City. He is married to the former Thelma M. Clarke, of San Francisco.

Aviation Cadet John F. Freund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Freund, 199 Alexander avenue, Daly City, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Forces after completing bombardier training at the Carlsbad, New Mexico, Army Air field, January 15.

Lieutenant Freund now becomes one of the Army Air Forces new "triple-threat men"—airmen who have completed instruction in dead-reckoning navigation and aerial gunnery in addition to the regular bombardiering course.

As an officer in the Army Air Forces ready for active duty, his destination is not disclosed.

Freund is a graduate of Jefferson Union high school.

No further word about how seriously their son is injured has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Al Gfroerer, 139 Vista Grande avenue. Private First Class William "Bill" Gfroerer was wounded in South Pacific action, according to an announcement from the War department at Washington, in December.

He is with the U. S. Marines and said in a recent letter to his parents the doctor told him he'd probably be sent back to the states shortly. He reported fine treatment at the hospital where he is now recovering but there were no details as to its location or how seriously he was hurt. He has been overseas nearly two years now.

Accept Three Daly City Men In Group

Three Daly City men among the group of 38 sent, Tuesday, January 11, for induction into the armed forces at San Francisco, have been accepted and their papers returned to Local Board No. 103. A number of others have not been reported on by headquarters as yet.

Those accepted were William F. Belli, 97 Moltke street, Navy; Virgil M. Darnell, 48 Miriam street, Army; Clifford Amundsen, 12 Woodrow street, Army.

Mrs. Isabelle Flynn, chief clerk, revealed that several Pre-Pearl Harbor fathers were included in this last quota. Indeed, it has been necessary to include a few fathers each time since November to meet the required quotas. However, she pointed out, fathers were taken only after the supply of single men and married men without children had been exhausted.

A new plan has been inaugurated on the physical exams. Hereafter, all 1-A men will receive a pre-induction physical examination before reporting to the armed forces on the day of their induction.

This is expected to eliminate the situation which now occurs when a man goes through all the details of preparing to enter the service and is then rejected for something which turns up during the physical exam at induction headquarters. First group of 1-As to take this pre-induction physical will go down, Saturday, January 22. Sixteen have been asked to report.

Grammar Schools Graduate, Feb. 4

More than fifty pupils of the Jefferson School district will be graduated at exercises to be held in the high school auditorium, 6996 Mission street, Friday night, February 4, according to R. L. Crane jr., district superintendent of schools. Crocker, Woodrow elementary and Jefferson are the three schools which have students completing the eighth grade and prepared to receive diplomas at the ceremonies.

In keeping with the times, the graduation exercises will be very simple. They will start at 8 p. m. sharp and admission is by invitation only.

Tin Collectors Need Cooperation

Another intensive drive to secure tin is under way in Daly City, with the children of the Jefferson Elementary School district acting as a busy army of tin collectors. Householders are asked to give their supply of cleaned, flattened, delabeled tin cans to any neighborhood child, this week, or take it directly to their nearest school.

Since arrangements to take Daly City donations to the Metal and Thermit corporation are difficult to make in these days of gasoline and manpower shortages it is asked that Daly City people get their tin in this week, at the height of the drive.

Salvage for Victory Chairman R. L. Crane jr., in asking continued tin salvage in this community, issued the following statement about tin and its importance in the war picture:

"Tin, used in small proportions and almost exclusively in combination with other strategic metals, is a concealed war weapon, and a

To the People of this Community

KILL OR BE KILLED

United States Marines paid the stiffest price in human life per square yard for the capture of Tarawa, vital Pacific outpost.

It was kill or be killed. Your boys did not flinch when they ran into the deadliest fire power along the beaches of this important Gilbert Island stronghold.

This assault, bloody and costly, is one of the many which must be made before Tokyo and Berlin are pounded into dust and ashes.

What are you doing to back up the boys? Remember these are boys from this very community, perhaps from your very home. Any home in your neighborhood which today does not display the Treasury's red, white and blue 4th War Loan Shield proclaiming "We bought Extra War Bonds" is not backing the attack. Every Extra War Bond you buy becomes a direct fighter against Japan and Germany. If you could but see one man die on the battlefield, you would not count the cost of your slight sacrifices to buy Extra War Bonds to make each succeeding assault less costly in the lives of our boys.

You can't afford NOT to buy Extra Bonds in the 4th War Loan if you would help these boys.

Fire Department To Assist Blood Bank

Chief Andrew P. Chesney announced, Monday night, that men of the Daly City Fire department are planning to make a house-to-house canvass of Daly City, seeking donors for the San Mateo County Blood Bank. The Blood Bank is badly in need of more donors, and the cooperation of local residents is asked.

Details of the project will be announced later. Pledge cards are to be printed and circulated.

Council Adopts Resolution No. 842

Because the City of Daly City wishes to become an accredited civilian defense organization in order that injured civilian defense workers registered with it may benefit by the workmen's compensation insurance provisions as outlined under the California State War Council, the city council adopted Resolution No. 842 at an adjourned meeting, Monday evening, January 17.

All councilmen with the exception of Edmund Cavagnaro were present. Mayor A. J. Gaggero presided. The reading of minutes and communications was dispensed with and the passing of the resolution was the sole project for the evening.

City Clerk B. C. Ross was instructed to send two certified copies of the resolution to the California State War Council. Motion for adoption of the resolution was made by Councilman John J. Fahy.

On October 7, 1943, the California State War Council adopted rules and regulations establishing classes of civilian defense workers and the scope of duties of each class and the manner of registration for such workers. Since the Daly City council agrees to follow the rules and regulations established by the council pursuant to the provisions of Section 1596 of the Military and Veterans code, Chapter 920. Statutes of 1943, and substantially complies with such rules and regulations, it will be certified, now that the

Theatre, Schools, Banks Participate

The Fourth War Loan drive started, Tuesday, of this week, and will continue through February 15. All Daly City residents are asked to join the rest of the nation in buying EXTRA war bonds during the period.

"You may not find it easy to spare an extra $100, but if the men in our armed forces can afford to give their limbs and lives—then certainly you can afford to lend at least $100 or $200 or $300 or even $500," says the Treasury department. "Be a good American—buy extra bonds RIGHT NOW!"

War Bonds and Stamps are on sale at the Daly City post office, 6251 Mission street, at the grammar schools, at Jefferson Union high school, at the Colma and Daly City branches, Bank of America, and at the Daly City theatre—in other words, right where you can get them easily!

Henry Combe, manager of the Daly City theatre, has announced that the local theatre has as its goal selling a War Bond for every seat in the house during the campaign. Emphasis in this campaign is being placed on "E" or popular priced bonds, the ones which are preferred as an investment by the average citizen.

To man the War Bond booth at the Daly City theatre, Combe has contacted several organizations which have pledged their wholehearted support.

The Old Glory Post and Auxiliary No. 2044, V. F. W., have the current period, ending Monday evening, January 24. El Carmelo Parlor No. 181, Native Daughters of America, will take January 25 through January 31; the Daly City Fire department and its ladies' auxiliaries, February 1 through February 7; the Daly City Post and Unit No. 410, American Legion, February 8 through February 15.

Naturally each group would like its friends and members to do their bond purchasing during their period at the booth. This will be a nice, healthy rivalry with the objective a bigger sale of those important war bonds which mean more support of the home and fighting fronts.

At Jefferson Union high school a boy-girl competition is under way in an effort to boost War Bond sales. The high school still needs to raise $40,000 to buy their P-38 pursuit plane by June. The public is invited to make their Fourth War Loan bond purchases there. Checks should be made payable to Jefferson Union high school. Any student will be glad to handle the sale, bringing the bond to the resident's home.

Just Don't Park Overnight, See?

Leniency with overnight parking cases has been abandoned in favor of fines for first offenders. This step has been taken, according to local police and court officials because of the large number of violations of Daly City Ordinance 160, Section 29, which states that no one can leave a car on streets here longer than 1 hour between 1 a. m. and 6 a. m.

Forty-two offenders paid overnight parking fines at court, Friday, January 14. Judge William J. Sweeney presided.

Other matters requiring the court's attention, Friday, were: the preliminary hearing on the case of William Edwin Ward, 127 Flournoy street, charged with a felony, assault on his brother, Harold Ward, with a knife, he did not appear and the $500 cash bail was ordered forfeited; William D.

Cagney Stars In Newspaper Saga

"Johnny Come Lately," a fascinating drama penned by Louis Bromfield, has its premiere at the Daly City theatre tonight. The film, first to come from the newly organized William Cagney Productions, stars Academy Award winner James Cagney in the role of a vagabond newspaperman who arrives in a small Southwestern town just in time to aid the elderly woman publisher of the town's oldest newspaper, the Shield and Banner. Grace George, famous actress from the Broadway stage, makes her debut in the role of the publisher.

The supporting cast includes such fine players as Marjorie Main, in her first glamour role as a cabaret hostess, Bill Henry and Marjorie Lord as the young lovers, Ed McNamara, as the town's big shot, Hattie McDaniel, as the publisher's confidential housekeeper and companion, and Margaret Hamilton, as a newspaper worker.

Jimmy Cagney, playing in his first film since winning the coveted Oscar, has one of the most engaging starring roles of his career as Tom Richards, the Johnny Come Lately of the story; about the frail widow who, ever since the death of her publisher husband, has made a gallant fight to carry on his newspaper and his home in the same manner as he did. The paper is slowly going to seed, and she is being bullied into carrying out the editorial demands of a crooked promoter at the time Cagney comes along. Arrested as a vagabond, he is bailed out of jail by the widow and given a job as a reporter on her failing newspaper, as well as a room in her home. In grateful appreciation, and because he wants to see her happy and prosperous again, Cagney completely metamorphoses the paper and the town and falls in love with the publisher's niece, to boot.

Jane, the niece, played by Marjorie Lord, has other ideas, however. She is in love with Pete Dougherty (Bill Henry), handsome young son of the town's promoter, from whom she is estranged because of his father's bulldozing treatment of her aunt and the town in general.

The film is fast-paced throughout and has all the color and flavor of a small Southern town shortly after the turn-of-the-century. One night scene, in particular, when the infuriated citizens parade through the streets after they have hung McNamara in effigy, is unforgettably real.

Unlike most of his roles, Jimmy doesn't get the girl in "Johnny Come Lately." In the end, seeing her reunited with the boy she loves, and feeling that he has restored to his benefactress some of the glories that were once hers, he goes blithely on his way to find romance and adventure on whatever road he chooses.

OPA Says Food Records Required

Restaurants and other institutional eating establishments which fail to keep necessary records of food service required under the new institutional rationing program will not be eligible for March-April food allotments, the San Francisco District Office of Price Administration announced today.

The new institutional rationing program, which goes into effect in March, will initiate a different basis upon which food allotments are determined, and the requested records are essential before these can be computed, OPA rationing officials pointed out.

Under the new plan, a restaurant or any other institutional user of food will receive rationed food allotments on the basis of the number of customers served food, exclusive of refreshments. At the present time, food allotments are based upon the total number of persons served, regardless of whether they have meals or refreshments—such as fountain drinks, cocktails, ice cream sodas, without accompanying food orders.

KEEP ON

Backing the Attack

WITH WAR BONDS

NOW AT DALY CITY THEATRE

This street battle convinces James Cagney that while Bill Henry may be down, he's definitely not out, for Marjorie Lord, whom they both love, has rushed to Bill's aid. The scene is from the exciting dramatic film, "Johnny Come Lately," which is the current attraction at the Daly City theatre through United Artists release.

Mrs. Ellen Yates Gets Thank-You Letter

Mrs. Ellen Yates, Daly City, was the recipient of a nice Christmas thank-you letter, last week. She had sent a Yuletide package to an unknown serviceman.

The letter of thanks revealed that her package had gone to Hugh Hartley, U. S. Navy, who reported that he had been out of the United States for 26 months and that he had not been home for Christmas in four years. He was really thrilled with the gift box and thanked Mrs. Yates for her thoughtfulness.

Maybe No Sure Cure But Helpful

Do gremlins wake you up at night to leer, "March 15 is just around the corner?"

If they do, it's probably because you haven't completed your March 15 income tax return and, in fact, don't know how to do so.

For those local residents in just such a state the Office of the Collector of Internal Revenue will have a deputy at the Daly City branch, Bank of America, February 29, March 1, 2 and 3, and at the Colma branch, Bank of America, February 25, 26, and 28. This deputy will be there for the express purpose of helping iron out questions in taxpayers' minds.

Our boys must keep on fighting—we must keep on buying WAR BONDS until victory is won. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

Output Of Surgical Dressings Trebles

During the past year 774,298 surgical dressings were made by the San Mateo County chapter of the American Red Cross, more than trebling the output of the previous year. Approximately 1,500 women worked about 90,000 hours.

This year the quota is expected to greatly exceed the number produced in 1943 and with plenty of material on hand women are needed to volunteer their services so as to maintain full production.

Mrs. Samuel Crim, chairman of the Surgical Dressings department, says, "Without the individual cooperation of the 1,500 women the big program accomplished last year would not have been possible and the chapter would like to express appreciation to each one for her interest and effort."

Those who have undertaken this service previously are urged to sign up again and new volunteers will be welcomed, including those women who can only spare a few hours a week but would like to make an invaluable contribution to the war effort.

OPA's News Items For American Housewife

Look for considerable reductions in the prices which you pay for fish after January 27. An order of the Office of Price Administration has established cents per pound specific mark-ups which the retailer will apply to his net cost. The mark-up takes into account the reduced prices of fish and other sea food at the fisherman's level and also at wholesale. It translates these changes into lower prices for the housewife.

Planning to sub-let your apartment or a room in your home? If you live in a defense rental area, you are subject to provisions of the Office of Price Administration rent regulation covering landlords. For if you, as a tenant, sublet any part of the quarters you rent, you're also a landlord. That means you should have registered the rooms you rent. Your landlord files a registration for the property he rents to you. You register the part you sub-let.

INVEST IN VICTORY

A few weeks ago Lieutenant Commander "Butch" O'Hare, the flyer who tumbled five Jap planes out of the sky in one day, vanished in the Pacific while trying to send more fighters of the Son of Heaven "down to earth."

More recently, Major Gregory Boyington, one of America's three all-time "Ace of Aces," with 26 Jap skywagons notched on his gun, followed O'Hare into the land of silence.

When we read of these men we feel as if something within us dies with them. We think—If there were only something I could have done to save them.

Wishing doesn't help. But we can do much to protect those who are still carrying on. Putting every last cent we can spare into War Bonds is one way of doing it. Only by doing our full share—and more—can we be worthy of such men. We must buy Bonds not only to supply ammunition and equipment for the O'Hares and Boyingtons still fighting "out there," but to prevent inflation so that these men will not have to come back to a country laid low by economic chaos which inflation would create.

Now with the Fourth War Loan drive under way, it should be our privilege to back it to the limit. As in the past, business and industry will give their all-out support. In fact, business and industry have never stopped backing the sale of War Bonds since they were first sold. California's statewide branch banking institution alone has sold approximately $800 million in small War Bonds to the public since Pearl Harbor.

This is one of the most outstanding records of any single organization in the United States. But sales records such as these, and the greater records that must be made, cannot be accomplished solely on the efforts of the organizations selling Bonds. The public must respond with its dollars—especially in this drive where the quota for individuals is $5½ billion.

Thousands of O'Hares and Boyingtons—America's finest young men—have invested their lives in victory. Certainly we can invest our dollars.

Mind Your Own Business, Says Soviet Russia

No man in this country, including the President, has done more during the past few years toward promoting more friendly relations between this nation and Russia than the globe girdling author of "One World," Wendell Willkie—and it was something of a political bombshell, therefore, when the official Communist Party organ, Pravda, took occasion last week to tell Willkie to mind his own business.

The reason for Pravda's outburst seems to have been an article by Willkie in the New York Times, discussing the status of Poland and the Baltic states. "Our principal objective," said Willkie, "must now be to persuade Russia to accept and give the guarantees of a general organization in which she and we are both members, rather than to seek her own protection by political and military control over adjoining territories."

The Soviet organ barked back that the Baltic question was the business of the Soviet union—and not Willkie's. There was also a broad intimation, in the Soviet declaration, that it was no business of the United States. "As to Finland and Poland," said Pravda, "the Soviet union knows how to deal with them, and does not need help."

This minor tempest, which may be a forerunner of more serious things to follow, raises the major question of just how far we are to go in guaranteeing the rights of small countries. Some Americans will agree that Russia is right; that it isn't any of our business what happens in the Baltic states, or Poland, or Finland. Others will argue that if we don't want to go through the whole ghastly business again in ten or twenty years, we have to make it our business.

We must shortly come to grips with questions of international policy that may shape the destiny of our country for generations—and yet we have had no clear-cut declaration from the White House on foreign policy. We know Willkie's views, for he is sometimes more forthright than politics. But except for idealistic generalities, we don't know Roosevelt's. What are we fighting this war for, besides saving our skins? If we don't want to risk being told to mind our own business at frequent intervals, it's about time we knew. The American people may want to have something to say in the matter.

AFTER A CENTURY OF FREEDOM

Before the war most people held one hope in common: that their children would enjoy greater opportunities and live fuller lives than preceding generations. For more than 150 years that hope was realized because the people were free. But now for the first time in the history of the nation the future is problematical, in spite of the fact that nearly 10,000,000 American men are under arms pledged to maintain American liberty.

We are faced with a bewildering growth of centralized government which is in no way incident to the war emergency. If present government planning is carried out, the lives of coming generations will be shaped in Washington instead of through individual effort.

Even now, agencies of government are planning the expenditure of billions of dollars to provide ready-made futures for the citizens of tomorrow. These futures, if realized, would consist largely of make-work jobs on government projects. In addition, there is steady pressure for the gradual broadening of socialization of industry—which would mean more ready-made futures, more jobs on the government payroll.

Illustrative of this pressure is the trend toward government domination of the natural resource industries. If the coal and metal mines, oil, power and transportation, are brought under control of government, the means are at hand to bring the entire productive capacity of the country—and the jobs and futures of all private citizens—under government dictation. Individuals in every walk of life are voicing concern over expansion of the Federal government. Their fear is that coming generations will be deprived of the opportunities for personal achievement that have marked the history of this country. Not only individuals, but clubs, churches and civic organizations from one end of the land to the other, have organized to fight for the reestablishment of constitutional government.

Typical of these is the Kiwanis International and its "Keep America American" program. The thought behind the movement is well expressed in the words of O. S. Cummings, past president of Kiwanis: "Ten million Americans are in the armed forces of our nation. Into our hands they committed the destiny of the civil affairs of our nation... just as we committed to them the destiny of our nation's military affairs. It is our solemn duty to insure the America to which they return is the same kind of an America they left."

Our future as free citizens is threatened—for the first time in a century and a half.

Brownies Honor January Birthdays

January birthdays were celebrated at the Thursday, January 13, meeting of Brownie Pack No. 8, held at Grace Church of the Nazarene. The December birthday girls opened the birthday box, which is attractively covered with yellow paper and decorated with a large Brownie, and took out crowns and small gifts for the January birthday girls.

The January birthday girls were Jacqueline Berardy, Lona Biggs, Janet Eschenauer, and Helen Hankerson. The birthday of Mrs. Hilda Heagney, one of the leaders, was also celebrated.

Highlight of the refreshments served to more than 35 Brownies was a large birthday cake bearing one candle for each birthday girl.

Grade Labeling Comes To Literature

So now it has come to this—that the bright young men (and the party hacks) in Washington, having invaded every other field, from the baby's formula to the number of coughs in each brand of cigarettes, are to decide, in their great wisdom, what constitutes "literature" and "art!"

That, at any rate, is the dire picture conjured up by the action of Postmaster General Frank Walker in ruling that the writings in Esquire magazine are not literature, and that its pictures aren't art—and that, therefore, it isn't entitled to the same postal rates enjoyed by other popular magazines. For Walker, who also happens to be the Democratic party chief-of-staff, didn't ban Esquire on the ground that its copy offended public morals, but on the amazing ground that what it printed lacked literary merit.

There may be many who will agree with Walker that Esquire is lacking in literary distinction, but heretofore, of course, the American people have been free to decide what was literature and what wasn't. And what was tripe for some proved good entertainment for others. We have had no "command performances" in Washington—no board of literature to tell us what was good and what was bad, or what was indifferent. We decided that for ourselves. But now, if Postmaster Walker's dictum may be taken as a criterion, grade labeling has come to literature. And may the gods preserve us from what seems to be in store for us.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKinnon

EARLY in the Spring of 1943, there appeared in Life Magazine a photographic story of unusual interest—a beautiful picture record of eight places famed in English prose and poetry. The extraordinary photographs were contributed by David Scherman, one of Life's photographers, and the descriptive text was written by Richard Wilcox, an associate editor of that magazine.

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY

Out of these beginnings grew the book, "Literary England," which is comprised of fifty full-page photographs, with accompanying passages which have made these scenes and places part of the life and thought of every lover of English literature. The Book-of-the-Month Club is distributing "Literary England" to its members as a book-dividend.

Here is Sherwood Forest where Robin Hood and his merry men hid out; the assembly room at Bath (now in ruins as a result of a Nazi bombing raid) where Pickwick played whist; the old curiosity shop Dickens wrote of in his novel; the farmhouse on the Yorkshire moors where Heathcliff lived in Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights."

To make complete the pleasure afforded by this enduring volume, Christopher Morley has written a delightful introduction.

Richard Dempewolf, in "Animal Reveille," tells of some of the curious mascots adopted by the boys at the fighting front. There was Young Abe, a twenty-pound eagle, who held sway over the U.S. 69th Armored Regiment; Randolph, a white Angora rabbit, a pet of the AEF; Myrtle, the magpie, who belonged to an Aussie regiment. A South African unit cherished two baboons; another British unit in Libya found and adopted a nice fat hedgehog that presently became four hedgehogs. A U.S. fighter plane squadron had a pair of parakeets, and the lads spent their time off duty trying to teach the birds to yell, "Air raid! Air raid! Yip-pee!"

Add Lincoln stories: this one is from Hamilton Basso's book, "Mainstream." Abraham Lincoln was once asked by his Springfield neighbors how it felt to be President. On due consideration, he replied, "You know about the man who was tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail, don't you? A man in the crowd asked him how he was enjoying it, and his reply was that if it wasn't for the honor of the thing, he'd much rather walk."

Landlords May Have To Make Refunds

Landlords failing to register dwelling accommodations within 30 days after renting the quarters will be required to make retroactive refunds to tenants under certain conditions, the Office of Price Administration pointed out today.

San Francisco OPA officials explained that ever since the beginning of rent control, landlords have been instructed to register immediately all dwelling accommodations which they rent. Since many failed to register until it was called to their attention, an amendment to the rent regulation now definitely specifies that registration must be made within 30 days after rental.

In any case where the landlord fails to file within the 30 day period and the rent is subsequently reduced by the OPA, the reduction becomes retroactive to the date of the first renting or October 1, 1943, whichever is later. In such instances, it was pointed out, the landlord is required to refund to the tenant the difference between the amount collected for this back period and the rate which is afterwards established by the OPA.

OPA officials explained that most new rentals in this area are of rooms within private homes or other dwelling accommodations which had not previously been rented. In cases where dwellings were not rented as of the freeze date, the first rental is subject to the approval of OPA and may not exceed rentals of comparable accommodations.

Persons who sublet rooms or apartments also are required to file registrations with the OPA because they become landlords when they lease their quarters.

Capable Artists Now In Shipyards

Many of the Bay region's most capable artists are now helping Henry Kaiser break all records at his Richmond shipyards. These men and women, far from being discouraged in their chosen field, still have opportunities not only to draw and paint, but to exhibit their work as well. Proof of this may now be seen in the current showing of "Ships and the Artist," the exhibition which Richmond workers have sent over to the de Young museum, Golden Gate park, for the month of January.

In this show, numbering fifty pieces, such familiar names as Alexander Nepote, David P. Chun, Jean de Longpre, Werner Philipp, Elizabeth Ginno, George Yphantis, Ray Strong and Madeline Langworthy—many of them exhibitors in art association and one-man shows—are represented, along with 25 other possibly less well-known but equally interesting artist-shipbuilders. The show includes oils and watercolors, most of the graphic media and a few pieces of sculpture. Finding among the machinists, draftsmen, shipfitters, burners and engineers at Richmond Yards Nos. 1 and 2 an array of talent equal to that seen in many group shows of pre-war days is a heartening experience. The de Young invites you to share in it throughout January.

"CURTAIN TIME" STAR

Connie Boswell, singing star of stage, screen and radio, appearing in person as co-star with Chico Marx in Paul Small's newest smash hit, "Curtain Time," now at the Curran theatre, San Francisco. The musical extravaganza is presented nightly including Sundays and there are four matinees a week.

Color Glamor

ROYAL PURPLE, recognized by authorities as the most dramatic color in the spectrum, electrifies the top coat of CBS actress Norma Jean ("That Brewster Boy") Ross. A set-in belt, roomy sleeves and wind-defying interlining are its practical assets, but the color affinity for both gay and sombre accessories from bright red to the palest green are its heart-warming qualities.

OPA'S News Item For American Housewife

buying tooth paste or other products packed in collapsible metal tubes, here's news. After March 1 you won't need to make the exchange. The War Production board will lift the order in March because the amount of tin salvaged has been decreasing due to reduction of tin content of the new tubes.

Mrs. America has until January 29 to buy ration free novelty shoes which are advertised as "OPA release—women's low priced shoes." Beginning January 17 dealers were allowed to offer for sale without ration stamps up to 15 per cent of their September 30 inventory of women's shoes. The selection is up to the individual merchant as long as he stays within the stock limitation and does not charge more than $3 a pair. This release serves a dual purpose—helps Mrs. America get the wear of some novelty footwear to stretch her shoe stamps and at the same time clears stocks which have failed to move from dealer's shelves under rationing.

Here's advice to the driver of the family car. Motorists who fail to properly endorse mileage coupons may expect gasoline dealers to refuse acceptance of ration stamps which do not comply with OPA regulations. Dealers have been cautioned against accepting coupons which have not been endorsed correctly. As a reminder, here's what's required. Just write in ink on the face of your gasoline coupons the license number of the car covered by the mileage book and the state in which the car is registered.

Why Don't You Get That License Now?

"Get your motor vehicle license now and avoid the rush!"

This admonition came today from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

February 4, midnight, is the deadline for 1944 applications for vehicle registration renewal. Applications received later than that will be subject to heavy penalties.

In Sacramento, Gordon H. Garland, director of the department, revealed that more than 2,000,000 vehicle owners thus far have failed to file applications although the deadline is only about three weeks away.

"This is the ideal time to come in for licenses," Garland said. "Later the crowds seeking to escape penalties will be so big that long waits will be necessary."

Garland announced sufficient of the 1944 windshield stickers have been received to permit the applicant to get his by mail a few days after his application has been filed. No stickers are being issued over the counters.

Applications may be sent by mail to 160 South Van Ness avenue, San Francisco.

Something Unusual

—By Frances Lee Barton—

NEXT time you have a cup or two of left-over meat and are worrying because it's not enough for another meal, try the following recipe and get the surprise of your life:

Meat Pancake Roll-ups
1 cup sifted flour; 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon sugar; 1 egg, well beaten; ¾ cup milk; 3 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg and milk; add gradually to flour, beating only until smooth. Add shortening. Bake on greased griddle. Makes nine 4½-inch thin pancakes.

Combine meat, horse-radish, and white sauce and mix thoroughly. Season with salt and pepper, if desired. Spread 2 tablespoons filling on each hot pancake and roll. Serve with Onion Sauce.

Sunset Shades

MILLINERY artistry borrows nobly from nature to fashion the half hat worn by CBS actress Jane ("Perry Mason") Winton. Aigrette-like feathers, the faint pink of sunset's last glow, are highlighted with a cluster of shining crystal stars and blue moonstones to signify evening propriety. It's a Sovell Original, practical in wearing qualities but extravagant in flattery to its owner.

For every pound of fat a housewife turns in to her meat dealer or other fat salvager, she receives two brown points, beginning December 13. "But most important," Herbert M. Faust, director of WPB's Salvage division said, "within a month the fat will be transformed into war materials and on the way to the fighting fronts." He reminded housewives to save the grease from turkeys, geese, ducks, and chickens, for the manufacture of war products.

Unit President Thanks Students

Mrs. Ida Hanley, president, this week expressed her appreciation to the students of Jefferson Union high school who presented such an outstanding program at the last unit meeting of the high school P. T. A., Thursday, January 13. The public speaking group under Roy J. Gale and the young musicians under Oscar Busch were splendid, she said.

Plans have been completed for the Founders Night meeting, in which all local units will participate, February 15, at the high school.

On Thursday, February 3, the Jefferson Union High School P. T. A. executive board will hold a luncheon meeting at 663 Evergreen avenue, to be followed by a public whist at 2 p. m. Mrs. Mildred Seiler and Mrs. Allene Lehigh are to be chairmen for the day.

Children Purchase Bonds

Children of the Jefferson School district, which includes elementary and primary schools in the Daly City area, have purchased nearly $25,000 worth of War Bonds and Stamps since the war began.

In 1942, $4,212.84 was the total of sales, while in 1943 the total was $12,873.04. How a steady increase in sales volume has resulted may be seen in the fact that during the last four months of 1943, $6,246.65 of the 1943 total was purchased.

"It goes into every war machine, on land, sea, or in the air. A battleship contains 76 tons of tin. The intricate machinery of a submarine calls for more than 3 tons of tin. A destroyer must have 490 pounds of tin for its electrical system alone. Every heavy bomber must have 48 pounds of tin, every medium tank 35 pounds, every Diesel engine 13 pounds. Airplane motors, cannon, machine guns, bomb sights, gas masks, torpedoes, and hand grenades, radio, telephone, and telegraph equipment—all demand tin.

"Tin, known among the ancients as the 'devil of the metals,' because of its unique effect on the physical properties of other metals when combined with them, is the hidden but irreplaceable component in the alloys that go into war equipment and in the solders that hold many of the parts together.

"Soft tin combines with copper, another soft metal, to form hard, ductile bronze for castings. The same tin-copper alloy, with the addition of phosphorous, is ideal for valves, steam fittings, pumps, cog wheels, wire ropes, and other machine parts which must be able to withstand great friction and stress.

"Alloys for engine bearings are dependent upon their tin content for their ability to give strenuous service.

"In lead solders for fighting equipment the prime requisites are great ductility and tensile strength, characteristics imparted by the tin contained in them.

"Besides its use in fighting equipment, rust and corrosion-resistant tin, used to coat steel for containers, serves to protect the food, prepared in accordance with American standards, that is sent to our fighting men all over the world. Before the war, approximately 50 per cent of our tin supply went to coat the steel that makes 'tin' cans. Now, despite drastic curtailments in the use of tin for cans to hold civilian goods, about 40 per cent of our incoming supply must still go into tin containers, chiefly to carry a large proportion of the 30,000 tons of food consumed each day by the 10,000,000 men in our armed forces.

"Food is necessarily shipped and stored months ahead of any major offensive. Tin cans protect the food they hold from contamination by bacteria, rust, and poisonous gases. Being waterproof, they can be floated to men marooned on shores where ships cannot land, or dropped from planes to shipwrecked sailors.

"Also for medical items tin is indispensable. The fighting man's individual morphine hypodermic syringe (syringe), his emergency sulfa ointments, blood plasma, and other medicaments are kept free from contamination in containers of pure tin or tin-coated steel.

"All these urgent military needs as well as essential civilian demands for tin must be met out of a diminishing supply of this metal."

Julia gives
3 good, hearty soup recipes

It's amazing, how many different varieties of hearty, stick-to-the-ribs soups there are—and how easy they are to prepare. Suppose I stir your imagination with some specific recipes?

MEATLESS BEAN SOUP

1½ cups dried beans 9 cups water
1 cup coarsely 1½ tps. salt
chopped onion ¼ tsp. dry mustard
¾ cup thinly sliced ¼ tsp. thyme
celery ¼ tsp. pepper
2 tps. shortening 2 tps. vinegar

Pick over and wash the beans. Saute onion and celery in hot melted shortening in heavy 4-qt. kettle until limp but not brown. Add beans and water; cover. Cook slowly until beans are mushy (about 3 hours). Mash beans. Add seasonings and vinegar. Serve garnished with egg or lemon slices. (Can serve 6.)

COUNTRY SOUP

2 medium-size 2 tps. cold water
potatoes milk
2 small turnips 1 tsp. butter or
3 small onions margarine
1 large carrot 2 tps. salt
¾ cup sliced celery ½ tsp. pepper
2 tps. enriched flour

Wash, peel and dice potatoes, turnips, onions and carrot. Add celery; cook in boiling water to cover in 3-qt. saucepan until tender (about 20 mins.). Drain vegetables, saving liquid. Cool vegetables thoroughly. Force through fine sieve, making about 5 cups puree. Make paste of flour and cold water; add to vegetable puree. Cook until slightly thickened (about 10 mins.), stirring frequently. Add vegetable liquid combined with enough milk to make 1½ cups, butter or margarine, and seasonings. Heat thoroughly. (Can serve 6.)

FISH-CORN CHOWDER

2 tps. drippings 1½ cups cooked
3 tps. flour flaked fish
4 cups milk 1½ cups thinly
½ to 1 tsp. salt sliced celery
½ tsp. onion salt 2 cups whole kernel corn

Make white sauce: Melt drippings, blend in flour, add milk gradually and cook until thickened. Add remaining ingredients and heat well. Serve at once. Serves 6, allowing 1 cup per serving.

NOTE: One No. 2 can oysters can be used in place of fish.

Incidentally, ever stop to think that a good soup can be made immeasurably better by adding garnishes? It's true. And here are some suggestions:

For Thick Soups: Thin slices of lemon on bean or lentil soups—Thin slices of pickle, grated cheese or sieved yolk of hard-cooked egg on chowders—Rings of green onion stems or thin slices of onion on bean soup.

For Vegetable or Clear Soups: Pop-corn—Bits of diced bacon—Thin slices of fried frankfurters—Thin slices of small tomatoes—Blobs of cottage cheese—Thin slices of hard-cooked egg.

Why not be a soup-chef?

BONDS AND STAMPS

Jefferson up to this time has sold $35,000 worth of bonds and stamps, but there is still $40,000 more to be raised. The people on the outside are being asked to help in this drive but it is up to the students to get out and look for the sales. Let's ALL get in it, this time!

To give credit to those who have been bringing in the most bonds an honor roll has been started. Since its origin six names have been entered: Eva Claus, Harry Kent, Louise Terry, Verna Moresco, Elizabeth Newton, Roberta Ramer, and Eloise Harrison. Do you want your name on the honor roll? Well, just bring in a FEW bonds and stamps during the term.

SENIOR JINX

On Friday, January 14, the seniors presented their jinx, "The Crystal Ball." Under the direction of Donald Nelson, chairman, the program was presented in four scenes. Those taking part in scene one were: Al Chelone, policeman; Florence Jauch, daughter; Carolyn Migliore, mother; and Roy Camillo, Tim Christen, George Percival, band members.

In scene two, Helen Dunn, Mary Lou Layne, Beverly Wadiker, and Metha Woods as themselves; and Dorothy Goldstein, salesgirl; the place, a bargain basement in a department store.

"The Oomph Club" was the scene of the third act, with Marie Smith as the dancing teacher with the chorus of dancing girls including: Angie Bernardi, Louise Miller, Elizabeth Newton, Betty O'Keefe, Helen Oxley, Beverly Rud, Emma Sambucetti, Nancy Sorg, and Florence Jauch. David Johnson and Richard Kroncke portrayed zoot-suiters.

The final scene included Bianco Ratto, speaker; Beaver, teacher; and Frank Coen, himself.

Credit goes to the following for helping put the jinx over: Howard Miguel, set; Tim Christen and Jerry Galindo, stage crew; Helen Dunn, and Marjorie Denton, cover; Marjorie Denton, programs; Marjorie Reandeau and Claude Hackley, supervision; Donald Nelson, chairman; and Richard Svan, Helen Dunn, Marie Smith, Metha Woods, Jinx committee.

SENIORS

During Friday's assembly Marie Smith, senior president, announced that each graduating senior had pledged to buy or bring in at least one bond.

JIVIN'

Last Friday the students attended an afterschool dance which was held in the cafeteria. The music was furnished by records.

Most of the students were too bashful to get up and dance, but anyone who knew how to jitterbug was on the floor.

GYM

After only a week's practice in folkdancing the girls seem to be doing pretty good. Along with grandmarching and dancing second period seems to be doing the best. Fourth and seventh run close for second.

Read this carefully girls! You better study up on your volleyball rules because there is such a thing as a test coming up soon.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

On Sunday afternoon, January 23, a group of students from Jefferson are going to attend a performance of the "Original Don Cossacks" at the War Memorial Opera house.

Morale Builder for a Cold Morning

THE best way to send the family off to work with their morale high and a feeling that all is well with the world is to set before them a tempting, nourishing breakfast. And what could fill the bill better than these piping hot cups of full-strength coffee and this mouth-watering Bacon Corn Bread. Of course, you want to have that coffee really good. Measure coffee and water accurately and use enough coffee . . . at least two level table-spoonfuls to every 8-ounce measuring cup of water.

Everybody loves their morning coffee and there is really nothing like it to give you that needed lift and send you on your way with the pep and energy we all need these days. There is plenty of coffee now so we can all enjoy its rich, flavorful goodness . . . and have another cup! You'll enjoy this Bacon Corn Bread, too. It's rich in good protein because it contains soya flour, yellow cornmeal, eggs, milk and bacon. You'll want to try it. Here is the way to make it.

Bacon Corn Bread

- 3/4 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 cup sifted soya flour
- 1/4 cup yellow cornmeal
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons melted drippings
- 3 strips bacon

Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Combine beaten egg and milk, and stir into dry ingredients. Stir in melted drippings. Place in greased shallow square or oblong cake pan, and cover with cut bacon. Bake in moderately hot oven (425° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve hot.

Note: The white flour may be increased to 1 cup, and the soya flour omitted.

Miss Dorothy Martin Bride Of Don Richman

Two of Daly City's young people exchanged wedding vows, Sunday, January 16, in First Christian church, San Francisco, at a 4 o'clock ceremony. The bride, wearing traditional white satin and a fingertip veil, and carrying a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and white roses, was given away by her father. Maid-of-honor was Miss Betty Sheridan, Daly City, who wore a floor-length dress of blue net. Bridesmaid, Miss Thelma Templin, Daly City, wore yellow net. Best man was Fred Turner, San Francisco, and attendant was Norman Wiseman, Daly City.

Following the pretty church wedding, a reception for relatives and friends was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Citrus Marmalades Don't Cost Points

All citrus marmalades are a point free, the Office of Price Administration reminded retailers today.

The reminder was issued because widely scattered reports indicate many retailers are charging points for citrus marmalades as well as for non-citrus marmalades, though the former are point free. Under processed foods rationing, citrus marmalades are defined as those made solely from citrus fruit, mainly oranges, lemons or grapefruit, or from any combination of citrus fruits.

If any other fruit is combined with the product, such as apples, pears or peaches, the product must then carry a point value and points must be exchanged when it is sold or transferred.

Health Department Issues Bulletin

For the week ending January 8, Daly City seems to have quite a healthy community. At any rate, there were no communicable diseases reported for the city in the San Mateo County Department of Public Health and Welfare report of that period.

Dr. Charles C. Gans, director of the department, called attention in the bulletin to the danger of botulism.

"Botulism can result from eating improperly processed food. Home canned food processed during the summer is now being consumed and in spite of splendid canning programs the dangers of eating improperly processed foods must be emphasized," he stated.

Physicians were advised that botulinus antitoxin is available at the Lederle laboratories, 274 Brannan street, San Francisco, EXbrook 3730; Community hospital, San Mateo, San Mateo 5-1611; Health department, Court house, Redwood City, Redwood 2180. To be effective antitoxin must be administered within a few hours of beginning symptoms.

Liquor licensees who violate the state liquor laws by selling alcoholic beverages during restricted hours take a desperate chance, but when they sell those beverages to members of the State Board of Equalization liquor control staff during restricted hours, they flirt with even greater chance.

This was the experience of Joseph Bertolucci, operator of the Liberty hotel on the Bayshore highway in South San Francisco. Complaints had reached Commissioner George R. Reilly, member of the board for this district, that Bertolucci was serving alcoholic beverages before the legal opening time of 10 o'clock in the morning. Reilly instructed Liquor Administrator Don Marshall to investigate, and Marshall assigned two members of his staff to the investigation.

The investigators reported they had walked into the Bertolucci place at 8:20 in the morning, ordered coffee royals and were served without question by Bertolucci's wife. Today Bertolucci has a citation to appear before the State Board referee to show cause why his license should not be suspended or revoked.

Meanwhile Commissioner Reilly has served notice on all liquor licensees, and especially those operating within defense plant areas, they will be dealt with severely for such infractions. Marshall added that his staff is checking closely to see that all licensees are living up to the law.

News From District Grammar Schools

AT WOODROW

Room 8
A tin drive started at the Woodrow Wilson elementary school, lasting two weeks. A reward will be given to the individual bringing in the most tin and the class bringing in the largest quantity. All tins must be properly prepared or they will not be counted.

Donald Mohrweiss returned to school after recuperating from an appendectomy at St. Joseph's hospital.

Sam Aiello and John Kapor bought a $25 bond and a $50 bond respectively.

Room 9
Room 9 was glad to have the War Stamp Banner flying in their room the past week. Joan Leepin purchased her third War Savings Bond.

Room 4
Betty Hatlock is a new pupil enrolled in the low seventh. Betty transferred from a one-teacher school in Mariposa.

Room 5
Hazel King of Room 5 is proud of her bond for $25. Hazel said she worked hard for it.

Room 14
The pupils of Room 14 are happy to welcome Frank Doherty.

Room 15
The children in the low fifth are discovering some interesting facts in their study of the story of writing. Each child is taking some phase of the history of writing and preparing a short talk on the information he is finding.

Room 12
The pupils of Room 12 have been greatly enjoying the Standard School broadcast this term, particularly the American music heard in the January 6 story of "The Man Without a Country," Philip Nolan.

AT CROCKER

The students of Room 3 were glad to welcome back, this week, Marjorie Kruse, June Welling, and Joseph Silicani. They had been on the flu list for the past week.

In connection with their social studies unit, "The Americas," Room 4 saw two films on South America. "Brazil — Amazonian Lowlands," pictured the land and life along the Amazon river. "Brazil Eastern Highlands" portrayed the agricultural and industrial products of eastern Brazil as well as the four most important cities of that region.

Room 6 was glad to welcome back to school Peggy Chamberlain, Florence Nordgren, and James Maldi, who have been ill for the past week.

The War Stamp Banner was won by Room 6, Ruth Davidson having bought a bond. Gerard Lorenzo is another student who buys bonds regularly.

AT JEFFERSON

The happy carefree days of the holiday season are now only faint memories to Jefferson elementary school children. The end of the term and promotion day arouse alternate emotions of hope and fear that will not subside until this first semester is concluded.

Meantime children of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades are working on their Lincoln essays which must be submitted shortly.

Another Tin Can drive has been started and will continue for two weeks. Only cans that have been washed and flattened will be accepted.

This week one of the seventh grade students gave a report on the life of Madame Curie. Special stress was laid upon the intense moment when Madame Curie and her equally famous husband realized that their long difficult experimentation in search of radium was crowned with complete success.

The sixth grade is studying "Transportation by Land" and the children are preparing book-

MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

Reporting to stockholders of Bank of America at the annual meeting in San Francisco this week, President L. M. Giannini said that a most constructive development of 1943 was the extent to which the American people built up their individual backlogs of savings. "Depositors in this bank alone added over half a billion dollars to their financial resources through additions to savings and purchases of war savings bonds," he said. "Such substantial savings will create business and jobs by providing purchasing power when consumer goods can again flow freely."

After reviewing the unprecedented growth in Bank of America's resources, deposits and investments as revealed in the year-end statement of condition, Giannini warned that war progress in 1943 cannot be taken as meaning the worst is over. "It only means that we can eventually win victory—if we will," he asserted. "Hard won advantage must not now be lost by mistaking progress toward victory for victory achieved. In matters of production and self-sacrifice our first consideration must continue to be the needs of our fighting men, without any qualification whatsoever."

Of the future, he declared: "Our heroic boys and girls must not return to a home unprepared to give them all they have fought for and won. Clearly this makes postwar planning our present responsibility."

The goal of such planning, he said, must be full employment, with a national income close to the present level. He stated that reestablishment of small business enterprises figures prominently in the bank's planning and offered the view that prevailing values of labor, commodities and merchandise must be maintained.

"Reduced values for labor and goods, while increasing the purchasing power of the dollar, would, I apprehend, precipitate depression and endanger our nation's integrity," he declared.

He emphasized the need for prompt settlement of war contracts upon their cancellation to prevent perilous delay to peacetime production and employment adjustment. Changeover in production from war to civilian goods should be effected as uniformly as possible, both geographically and as to industries, or irreparable damage would be caused on the Pacific coast by keeping its industries on full war production in the war's latter stages while the rest of the nation resumed civilian production. Banks must be ready, and permitted, to exercise their normal functions of financing private enterprise without subsidized governmental competition.

Stating that many of the people's prerogatives have been temporarily relinquished for war purposes, he declared that one right not to be relinquished even temporarily is the right to remain free from regimentation in the form of conscription of civilian workers. "We must have faith in the patriotism and the ultimate soundness of the composite judgment of those of us who remain at work on the home front, confidence in our ability to master present difficulties and solve current problems without resort to those rash experiments which inevitably lead to conditions of enslavement against which we are now fighting all over the world," Giannini averred.

"Achievement of victory continues to be our first consideration," he concluded. "In keeping with what we regard as a total victory we recommit ourselves to plan for and aid in postwar stabilization with every facility at our command."

of Russians, conducted by Serge Jaroff. The program will consist of folk songs.

During intermission members of the cast do a group of Russian dances.

INDIANS OF RHYTHM

The band is all set to present another assembly tomorrow.

A group of selections to be played include: "920 Special," "The General Jumped at Dawn," "Baby Don't Tell on Me," "No Love, No Nothin'," "Do Nothin' Til You Hear From Me," and "Don't Cry Baby."

Ken Hatt and Don Bortis will play solos on the saxophone, while Barbara Gregor makes the ivories fly. Emile Lemoine will play a trumpet solo.

WHICH DO YOU LIKE?

The battle is on at Jefferson, deciding who is better Frank Sinatra or Bing Crosby. This argument is to be settled when the students cast their votes in the halls during the week.

lets showing the development of transportation. They are now reading and studying about the different kinds of animals used in various countries to transport people and burdens. Many of the boys are making models of various types of vehicles. Later on they will put the models on display and talk about them to the class.

The children are reading experiments from the "How and Why Club." David Belli demonstrated one of these experiments last week. By means of an alcohol lamp and test tube he showed how water could be purified and distilled.

The fifth grade is acquiring some very useful and practical knowledge by making a health book based on the seven basic food groups outlined by the Office of Food Distribution.

The first grade in a much simpler way, of course, is also making a health book. The children are drawing pictures and printing names of the foods most essential to them.

The second and third grades have decorated their room with paper hatchets and firemen hats to carry out the idea of their fireman unit. The class has made a chart that shows the subjects they want to talk about. The children are drawing a variety of dramatic and highly-colored fire pictures.

The kindergarten children are building a farm and the walls of their room are covered with farm pictures. They are all making toy animals and stuffing them. In a few days some of the boys will begin the serious job of building a fence and barn, and the girls will commence their Animal books.

Zebra Act In Folies Bergere Popular

Patrons may be seeing stripes after the zebra act in the new Folies Bergere of 1944 at Winterland, in San Francisco, but seeing the act is worth a few stripes before the eyes, according to the show's producers.

The act opens with five Ben-Hur type carriages, drawn by teams of high stepping girls, who bring the excitement of a chariot race to the stage at Winterland. The girls, dressed as zebras with flowing white manes and bushy tails, then perform breath-taking precision dancing on the entire surface of the Winterland stage.

Featured in the act are four beautiful Folies girls, who perform daring acrobatic feats upon the backs of four giant papier mache horses which are mounted on revolving bases.

All the rollicking fun of a circus comes to the stage when the Cristianis, famous Italian bare-back riding family, run on the stage and keeps the audience spellbound with a series of bare-back riding tricks. The Cristianis delight the audience when five of them, moving as one person, run across the ring and leap to the back of "Baby," the family's 2800 pound percheron.

HOURS: 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Ration points and dollars buy more meat when you spend them with a reliable, conscientious dealer. Prime quality and cuts "made to your order" have been standards upon which were built our successful meat department, and which mean more to your advantage today than ever before. Let LUCCA'S MEAT MARKET help solve your food problem.

In spite of wartime difficulties, we do maintain delivery service for feeds where it is impossible for the customer to carry home his purchases. We do this as a patriotic effort, one of our ways in which to keep the home front "clicking" while our men are fighting "out there."

However, we must ask that whenever possible, feeds be picked up at our store. Please do not ask us to unnecessarily expend vital manpower and transportation to carry these purchases. Doing your part in this will be a great favor to us, as well as aiding the war effort.
